19/11/2013

The farm-gate price of tomatoes will remain stable over the next month. It will rule between Rs 16 and Rs 20 a kg (1 Rs= $0.016 USD), say analysts from Agro Marketing Intelligence and Business Promotion Centre at the Tamil Nadu Agricultural University.

The analysts, after studying the price movement of the hybrid tomato over the past decade, said that that they did not foresee any big change in the price leading up to mid-December.

Tomato prices have fallen by half to its current level since July–August, when it was quoting at over Rs 45 a kg. Traders attributed the rise to severe drought in Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Karnataka.
