

Marché d'exportation de la tomate marocaine évolue.

Moroccan tomatoes have regained ground on the European market. After a three week slump due to weak demand, prices have been risen since Monday.

At the moment, the export price is between 0.6- 0.7 Euro per kg with highs of 0.75, a similar situation to the same period of the 2012-2013 season. What comforts the producers the most are the positive results in terms of yield per hectare.

According to a producer, the overall rise could represent an estimated 15-17% extra in potential export. At the moment 2,000 tons are exported daily. The good weather since the start of the season in the Souss region is one of the factors contributing to the yield situation...
