

Egypt's agriculture exports jump to over 5 million tons in 2019

Egyptian agricultural exports increased to more than five million tons between January and December 2019, according to a report from the Ministry of Agriculture and Land Reclamation.

The report by the Central Administration of Agricultural Quarantine clarified that exports amounted to about 5.4 million tons, an increase of 238,000 tons compared to the same period last year.

The most important agricultural exports for this period included: citrus, potatoes, onions, grapes, pomegranates, garlic, mangoes, strawberries, beans, guava, cucumbers, peppers, and eggplants.

The report explained that the total agricultural exports of citrus fruits amounted to about 1.8 million tons, in addition to exporting about 688,000 tons of potatoes, ranking second in agricultural exports after citrus.

About 586,000 tons of onions were exported, ranking third on the exports list and grapes ranked fourth, followed by pomegranates in fifth.

Egypt's garlic exports ranked sixth, while mango exports ranked seventh, followed by strawberries eighth, and beans ninth.

Guava ranked tenth in agricultural exports, cucumber ranked eleventh, pepper twelfth, and eggplant in last place.
